Rain School

Rain School is a story about children in African in a village name Chad and a little boy name Thomas and their first day of school. For many children in the United States their first day of school begins in a building inside a classroom.

Rain School by James Rumford - Goodreads

Children in Chad build a schoolhouse that washes away during the rainy season after the end of each school year. James Rumford, who lived in Chad as a Peace Corps volunteer, fills these pages with the vibrant colors of Africa and the spare words of a poet to show how important learning is in a country where only a few children are able to go to school.

It takes a village to make a school. In Chad, big brothers and sisters lead the way for younger children on the first day of school. Little Thomas is full of questions. When he and the other children arrive, there are no classrooms and no desks. But the teacher's there, holding a trowel. "We will build our school," she declares. Everyone sets to work, making mud bricks that dry in the sun and ...
